During the final session the Health Manpower Act pending in Congress was discussed. The bill has passed the House and will go into a Senate committee headed by Edward Kennedy. The present bill would require each and every veterinary student to pay back to the Federal Government any capitation funds their college would receive if the student did not practice in an underserved area. Capitation funds amount to $1500 per year. In other words, upon graduation, each student would owe the federal government $6000 and have no choice but to pay it back or serve four years in an underserved area.

The SAVMA secretary was directed to send letters of protest to Senator Kennedy and members of his committee. Each college is urged to obtain a petition of students and faculty protesting the bill to be presented to the Senators. The possibility of having a SAVMA executive officer testify during the committee hearings will also be studied.

Elections were held with Gene Warren (ISU) elected as secretary, David Carter (Tuskegee) as treasurer, and Colorado was awarded the bid for the 1977 Educational Symposium. David Carlton (Texas A&M) assumed the office of president from his president-elect position and Steve Cairo (Ill.) will continue as editor of Inter-Vet.

If you have any questions pertaining to the National Convention or functions of your SAVMA, please contact Randy Gibson or Gene Warren.

Dr. Ramsey Retires

Frank K. Ramsey, distinguished professor and head of the Department of Veterinary Pathology at Iowa State University since 1957, was honored at a banquet marking his retirement from administrative duties. About 300 persons attended the event held in the Sun Room of the Memorial Union.

Reflections on Dr. Ramsey's career were offered by W. Robert Parks, President of Iowa State University, George C. Christensen, Vice President for Academic Affairs, and P. T. Pearson, dean of the college.

Through a $12,000 fund provided by the "Friends of Frank Ramsey", a portrait was presented to the college and an F. K. Ramsey Lecture Series was established. Through this lecture series, outstanding speakers in veterinary pathology or veterinary medicine in general will be brought to the campus. This will benefit not only the students and faculty in the college and the veterinarians throughout the state, but also other faculty throughout the university and U.S.D.A. personnel located in Ames, Iowa.

Dr. Kluge Named Chairman

Dr. John Kluge (MO '62) has been appointed as Chairman of the Department of Veterinary Pathology in the College of Veterinary Medicine at Iowa State University.

Dr. Kluge received the B.S. and D.V.M. degrees from the University of Missouri in 1962, the M.S. degree in veterinary pathology from Iowa State University in 1965 and the Ph.D. degree from George Washington University in 1968. From 1962 to 1968 he was on the staff of the National Animal Disease Center in Ames, Iowa and since 1968 has served in the Department of Veterinary Pathology at Iowa State University.

Dr. Kluge is a diplomate of the American College of Veterinary Pathologists, a member of Phi Zeta, Alpha Zeta, Sigma Xi, Gamma Sigma Delta, The Iowa Veterinary Medical Association and the American Veterinary Medical Association. He has published numerous articles and presented papers at national and international meetings on the pathogenesis of granulomatous and infectious diseases.

Alex Begg
in Memorium

Iowa State University Veterinary College alumni of many years will note with sadness the death of Mr. Alex Begg who served with pride the clinic of the veterinary college for 47 years. Most students, throughout Alex's tenure at the college, were able to derive from him, a part of his humor, character, philosophy, and wisdom. Wherever alumni and students gathered, it seemed to include fond memories of Alex.

Born November 22, 1903, in Rothes, Scotland, Mr. Begg came to the United States with his family in 1908. He lived on a farm near Grand Junction until coming to Ames and to the Veterinary College at ISU in 1927. He and Bessie Mart were married February 12, 1930 in Dakota City. He died on July 14, 1975, and was buried in the Ames Municipal Cemetery. Survivors include three sons, a brother, four sisters, and nine grandchildren.

A memorial fund for the American Cancer Society has been established and gifts may be sent to the University Bank and Trust Co., Ames, Iowa.
